NEW FLOOD PERIL ROUTS THOUSANDS

22 Lost When Navy Boat Sinks

Tragedy Delays 12 Ships

Mediterranean Service Slated

NORFOLK, Va. — (AP) — Twenty-two men — nine marines and 13 navy men — perished in Hampton Roads last night when a navy launch swamped in choppy waters while returning 90 men to their ship after Memorial day liberty.

Rear Admiral C. A. F. Sprague, commander of a 12 ship task force, whose sailing for the Mediterranean was delayed by the tragedy, issued this statement to Newsmen at 9 a. m. today from his flag ship, the aircraft carrier Kearsarge:

"Preliminary report of loss of life or missing personnel may be placed at 22, nine marines and 13 navy."

"Report considered accurate and includes best estimate of possible stragglers" (men absent over leave.)

"Further checking now in progress."

The 50-foot open launch was swamped in a wind and rain storm at 8:45 p. m. as it was returning a liberty party to the Kearsarge, anchored two miles off the Norfolk naval station.

The launch, which was attached to the carrier, was swamped when only 200 yards off the Kearsarge's port beam.

At 2 a. m. today all naval tugs and small craft that had been searching the area were withdrawn, leaving two coast guard ships to continue the search.

INTERVIEWS DELAYED

Sprague, replying to newsmen's requests for permission to board the Kearsarge to interview survivors, said he did not know whether it would be possible.

Sailing of the task force was delayed indefinitely after the accident and its ships were placed on four hour sailing notice.

The Kearsarge, with three cruisers, seven destroyers and a transport, was scheduled to sail at 5 a. m. today for the Mediterranean to relieve a similar force which has been on duty in that area since last winter.

A motor launch returning a liberty party from Hyeres, France, to the carrier Midway on Feb. 16 was swamped. In this accident an officer, a marine and six seamen were lost; 53 survived.

Sailor Tells Of Tragedy

(The following eyewitness story was told to the United Press by Boutswain's Mate 3/C Thomas A. Roney, 22, of Huntington Park, Calif. He swam more than two miles to shore from a launch which foundered in Hampton Roads last night and was being treated today on board a hospital ship at Norfolk Naval station.)

NORFOLK, Va. — (UP) — I fought on Salp and Okinawa, but never in my life have I been as shocked as when I woke up this morning.

I was pretty groggy when I got to the pier after my last shore leave. I guess I got into the wrong boat, because they told me this morning I was headed for the Kearsarge. I was really from the attack transport Randall.

I fell asleep as soon as I got in the launch. And when I woke up I was in the water. The boat all of a sudden seemed to have disappeared.

I saw a lot of men in the water. I guess most of them came up. Several of them tried to pull me under. And I had to fight to stay up.

A tug passed close to where I was but didn't see me. When that tug passed by me, I knew I'd have to get to shore. I could barely see some light off in the distance, so I headed in that direction.

There for a while I thought I'd never get to land. It must have been more than two miles, and I hit a strong current that seemed like it was going to push me back. But I got to the dock. I had to.

ROYAL GETS DEGREE

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree at Xavier university commencement here June 9, it was announced today.

Royal Love Cooled By Publicity

ATHENS — (UP) — The wedding of former King Michael of Romania and Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma has been postponed indefinitely, a palace spokesman said today.

He did not give any reason but it was reported earlier that Michael, irritated by the publicity given his romance with the Danish princess, had ordered a halt in arrangements for his marriage here this week-end.

It had been announced that King Paul of Greece would be best man and Queen Frederika matron of honor.

Fall Into Pit Fatal To Worker

Nicholas Sholaya Dies At Empire Plant

Nicholas Sholaya, 59, of 20 Louis street, was killed instantly at 11:30 a. m. Monday when he fell into a soaking pit at the Empire Steel corporation plant.

A. L. Allen, personnel director of the firm, said Sholaya was preparing a pit with lime in the bar mill when he lost his balance and fell into the open pit. He had been employed at the plant since 1922.

Temperature inside the pit, which is used for cooling steel ingots, was approximately 2300 degrees, Allen said. Due to the intense heat, it was necessary to use a crane to recover the body.

Born in Yugoslavia July 16, 1888, Mr. Sholaya came to this country in 1904. He moved to Mansfield in 1921. He was a member of St. Peter's Catholic church, Delano Lodge and the SNPJ, an organization of his countrymen.

He is survived by his wife, Manda, and a son, Mike, both of the home; three step-sons, Nick, Dan and Steve Wukela, all of Mansfield; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Helen Evaskovich, of Wierton, W. Va., and Mrs. Rose Spehar of Yugoslavia.

Funeral mass will be conducted Thursday morning at St. Peter's Catholic church by Msgr. R. C. Goebel. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Friends may call at the Fine-frock funeral home until time for services.

Singer Won't Tell If He's A Communist

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Negro singer Paul Robeson appeared today to have an even chance of escaping a contempt citation for refusing to tell a Senate committee if he was a communist.

Robeson refused to answer the are-you-a-communist question while testifying before the Senate judiciary committee on the House-approved communist-control bill. He took the same position as the 10 Hollywood figures who were indicted for contempt for refusing to answer the same query from the House un-American activities committee.

The noted basso was under oath at the time but a quorum of the committee was not present when the oath was administered.

Sen. Homer Ferguson, (R-Mich) who asked Robeson the $64 question, said the lack of a quorum raised a "legal problem" about citing him for contempt. Ferguson, a former judge, said the courts never have settled clearly whether contempt can be committed under such circumstances.

Smuts Stays In Parliament

CAPETOWN, South Africa — (NS) — Former South African Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts agreed today to accept a parliamentary seat.

He will fill the seat won by C. W. Clark, a member of Smuts' United party, who won a 3,000 majority in the elections in East Pretoria.

Clark and numerous other United party men offered Smuts their seats when the venerable South African statesman was defeated in the recent national elections.

Israel Bombs Arab Capital

U. N. Appeal Being Weighed

BULLETIN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (UP) — An official spokesman disclosed today that Israel has accepted the United Nations plan for a four-week truce in Palestine and simultaneous arms embargo in the Middle East.

TEL AVIV — (UP) — Israel struck the first air blow of the war at any Arab capital today, bombing Amman as Arab leaders and mediators gathered there to weigh a United Nations appeal for a month's truce in Palestine.

A Jewish bomber wheeled over the Trans-Jordan capital for 18 minutes, dropping explosives and incendiaries. Six to 12 persons were reported killed, 30 wounded, and considerable damage done in the downtown area.

The tiny Israel air force landed its first punch at the seat of the Arab high command a few hours before the leaders directing the war against the Jews took up their answer to the U. N. request for peace. Count Folke Bernadotte, the U. N. mediator, and his staff of 18 flew from Haifa to King Abdullah's capital.

Impetus was given to hope for a truce by a lull in the battle for the new city of Jerusalem. The 16-day barrage laid on the Jewish-held quarter of Jerusalem was halted. The pause was a reversal of evident Arab determination to overrun the city before the U. N. could bring about a truce.

Another hopeful sign came from Cairo. Premier Nokrashy Pasha said there that the Arab answer to the U. N. would be "moderate and reasonable." It would not reject the principle of a truce, he added.

The U. N. security council asked both Arabs and Jews to give their answer to the truce appeal by 6 p. m. (EST) today.

PEACE OVERTURES HEARD

ATHENS — (UP) — The Greek army general staff said today it intercepted a guerrilla radio broadcast last night in which rebel peace overtures were made.

SWIRLING COLUMBIA FLOOD WATERS DEVASTATE TOWN — Crumpled two-story apartments of the war-built town of Vanport, Ore., lie jammed together in tangled piles where they were carried by raging flood waters that poured into the community when an embankment along the swollen Columbia river burst. Lower stories of the frame buildings are under water and rescuers have been unable to search them for the possibly scores of victims who lost their lives in the deluge. In the foreground is a highway to which hundreds of residents fled frantically to escape the flood.

Too Cool to Swim But Hundreds Golf

Sun Blesses Holiday Pleasure Seekers

Back at work at their desks and machines, Mansfielders looked back over their three-day vacation with a "good-time-was-had-by-all" feeling.

Blessed with warm sunshine during almost the entire period, families took to the roads, parks, golf courses and the swimming pool at Liberty park for relaxation.

Lamb Again Under Fire

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Edward O. Lamb, a Toledo, O., attorney accused of questionable character and subversive leanings, was criticized again today on the house floor.

Rep. Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill) belabored the Federal Communications commission for granting Lamb five radio station permits in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

He said the commission "seems to have adopted a policy of turning over these radio stations to those of questionable character and subversive leanings."

Lamb, who also publishes a newspaper in Erie, Pa., has said the charges were inspired by his business competitors.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.), a member of the Un-American activities committee, made the original charges against Lamb on the house floor several weeks ago. Vursell said that in his opinion the Federal Communications commission is "the sorriest department in government." He pointed out that in every communist coup, the communists first have seized the radio.

Drafts Plan Of Security

Westinghouse Sets Up Pension System

Mansfield employees of Westinghouse Electric corporation have received a proposal for a "single uniform security package" from the corporation, it was announced today.

Price said management will offer it to employees "when the company's payroll and material costs are stabilized."

The offer was contained in a letter to employees from Gwilym A. Price, president of the company.

The program would provide pensions, life insurance sickness and accident insurance, hospital and surgical insurance.

WORKERS PARTICIPATE

Westinghouse would pay approximately two-thirds of the pension plan cost, while the employee would pay 2 1/2 per cent of his first $3,000 of regular earnings, plus five per cent of earnings above $3,000. Should an employee leave the company, all his contributions, plus interest, would be refunded to him, the company said.

The company estimated cost of the insurance to employees would range from 60 cents to $1.45 a week, depending upon base pay and the number of dependents employees have.

Rail Parley Opens Again

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman today doggedly renewed the government's search for a way out of the deadlocked rail dispute.

Steelman called negotiators for the nation's big railroads and three disgruntled labor unions to his White House offices. He had recessed the talks over the Memorial Day week-end.

The unions, with about 190,000 members, were forced to call off their proposed May 11 strike after the government seized the roads and then got a temporary restraining order from Justice T. Alan Goldsborough.

Orders $126,225 Refund

Refund of an overcharge of $126,225 in inheritance taxes on the estate of Frank B. Black, founder of the Ohio Brass company, who died in 1937, has been ordered in probate court, a journal entry showed today.

Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer, following a decision of a federal court, ruled that the executors should have paid $10,622 in additional inheritance taxes and not $136,848. He ordered the difference, $126,225, refunded.

The money ordered refunded has been held in an inactive fund by the county so it won't cripple operating funds, it was pointed out.

Refund was ordered after the executors of the estate, Robert B. Donald S. and Roger A. Black, won an action in federal court at Cleveland ruling that the federal government must refund inheritance taxes of $618,353 which, with interest, totaled $831,439.

The federal court ruled the executors should have paid additional inheritance taxes on a net estate of $840,559, ruling against the government which had contended they should have paid taxes on an estate of $2,693,996. The government appealed the case to the U. S. Circuit court of Appeals, which court affirmed the action of the lower court.

EXECUTORS FILE SUIT

The executors had filed an action in common pleas court naming the county treasurer, Madison township trustees, Madison and Mansfield school districts and the state of Ohio as defendants.

The suit asked for refund of the $126,225. That suit was dismissed by the executors when the probate court ruling was handed down.

The executors had paid $19,248 in inheritance taxes besides the additional $10,622 as a result of the ruling.

The government had contended that Mr. Black had transferred part of his property in contemplation of death. However, the federal court found in its contention and had no grounds for its allegations. The executors had paid the taxes voluntarily while awaiting the outcome of the federal case.

State inheritance taxes are divided between the state and the township as Mr. Black was a resident of Madison township at the time of his death.

142 Sign Up For Air Unit

One hundred and forty two completed applications for enlistment in the 164th Fighter Squadron spelled a highly successful three-day recruiting drive for the Air National Guard, recruiting officials announced today.

More than 100 other area men obtained application forms for further consideration of enlistment in the squadron to be based at Mansfield airport. Recruiting personnel will continue the drive for the enlistment of a total 353 officers and men needed in room 200, Farmer's Bank building. The recruiting offices will be open from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m. through June 7.

Brig. Gen. Kenneth Cooper, assistant Adjutant General of the state of Ohio, and Brig. Gen. E. H. Zistel, commanding General of the 55th Fighter Wing of the Ohio International Guard, were expected to arrive in Mansfield today. They will meet with members of the Mansfield Civic Advisory committee, headed by Alan P. Tappan, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel this evening, to review accomplishments of the recruiting campaign.

Men from Richland, Ashland, Huron, Crawford and Knox counties are eligible for the new Air Guard unit. Enlistees 17-45 having previous military experience and those 17-35 without previous military experience are eligible to join.

Several thousand persons visited the Air Force exhibit in Central Park over the week-end. The show was set up in connection with the recruiting drive.

Flames Destroy University Lab

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (INS) — The Chemical and metallurgical laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh lay in ruins today, and Fire Chief William H. Davis estimated damages at $500,000.

Several explosions ripped through the building before the flames consumed the structure which was built before World War I. Twenty-five companies fought the raging fire.

Columbia River On Rampage

Vanport Death Toll Unknown

PORTLAND, Ore. — (AP) — Mass evacuations began today as the flood-swollen Columbia river brought new peril today to a 120-mile section at the lower end of the stream.

The river, which already had caused the Pacific Northwest's greatest disaster, threatened to flood hundreds of farms and many small cities in the area, nearly all of which is downstream from Portland.

Army engineers ordered the evacuation of the thousands of residents of the 43 drainage districts area, but said many of them already had run for higher ground.

The Portland Housing authority estimated at $27,000,000 the loss suffered by the war-housing city of Vanport, which was crumbled Sunday. That was the only flood loss estimate available, although before the Vanport disaster, army engineers had predicted a loss of $30,000,000 to farms and houses, and to valuable topsoil being swept to sea.

The river, second largest in the nation in amount of water discharged, is at flood stage for 750 miles. The crest will reach the Portland area tonight or tomorrow.

RAIL STATION FLOODED

Part of Portland's downtown area, including the union station, was under water today after the Willamette river topped the seawall. The station is Portland's only railroad depot, and trains were unable to use it.

In North Portland, where more than 18,000 persons were left homeless in Sunday's Vanport disaster, the flooded area was tripled by the bursting of two more dikes. On top of these two dikes were the approaches to the Pacific highway, principal north-south route.

The breaking of these dikes left three square miles under water, with houses from Vanport pouring through both gaps. Some of them turned end-over-end, and all hope of salvaging these was lost.

No bodies have been recovered from Vanport. Some bodies might be swept so far they never would be found.

Army engineers are investigating the "blow out" of the railroad embankment which resulted in the Vanport disaster. The rail fill was constructed 40 years ago. Commenting on the fate of what once was Oregon's second largest city, the Portland Housing authority announced the agency "feels terribly, terribly bad that lives possibly were lost, but all you can do is depend on the advice of competent engineers."

Survivors are scattered in thousands of homes throughout the city, in schools and churches. Most of the separated families are getting together. But the Red Cross has not issued an estimate of the missing.

The major threats downstream from Portland were at Clatskanie, Rainier, Woodland, Kelse, Longview and Kalama. Those areas, where much of the population is being moved out by army engineers, national guardsmen and civilian agencies, are like vast swamplands.

In British Columbia, military authorities were given power to conscript citizens and requisition transport to fight the disastrous Fraser river flood. Four thousand Canadian soldiers are in the area.

93rd County Bans Liquor

PIKEVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Pike county today became the 93rd of the state's 120 counties to prohibit the sale of liquor.

At midnight last night, a compromise proposal of wet and dry forces went into effect banning the further sale of liquor. It was a victory for the drys after years of fighting, and completed a grand slam for prohibition forces in eastern Kentucky.

Liquor dealers were compelled by law to dispose of their goods by the effective hour of prohibition or face confiscation.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The class in beer drawing will please come to attention.

You think I'm kidding? Are there really classroom courses on how to draw a glass of beer?

Sure. I just—bu-u-r-r-r-p—flunked the first lesson.

I took it in a demonstration room at the Jacob Ruppert brewery, the one that used to own the New York Yankees and kept them—so to say—hopping.

The professor was 55-year-old Hal R. Roffman, the dean and effervescent Rector and of American beer drinkers. The class consisted of students in a local bartenders' school. A number were veterans studying under the GI bill of rights.

The professor, a consultant to many breweries and hotels, went right to the heart of his subject—how to teach the man behind the bar to draw a proper glass of beer. Draft beer.

"There's a lot of kidding on this subject—but it's important," he said, adding ominously:

"There even have been cases of murder over whether beer was being drawn right. I got the clippings right here in my pocket."

"You gotta be a diplomat. Some customers act up after just smelling the bar rag."

To draw a glass of beer that'll malt in your mouth is as much of an art as drawing a landscape, and even more soul-filling—according to the professor. He told the class that beer is getting better but that tavern keepers are getting worse.

"Too careless," he said. "In the old days bartenders paid more attention to how beer was kept."

For an hour and a half Roffman explained how important it was to keep the keg in a pre-cooler, flush the coils regularly, and adjust the pressure so the customer would get the beer in his glass instead of a spray in the face.

Then the professor began to draw some beer himself. The class perked up at once.

"There's no such thing as wild beer, flat beer or green beer," he lectured sternly. "If you keep it cool—below 40 degrees—and draw it right."

"It oughta have a collar," he continued, drawing a glass himself with an inch-deep neck of suds. "It oughta leave a ring on the glass every time you take a sip."

The professor takes big sips himself. He left only six rings. The class looked thirsty.

"But you gotta have control. It's like shifting gears in a car. Pull the faucet down fast. If you throttle it, you get too much foam."

"Always wash the glasses in water. Don't use soap. It kills the head. And don't dry the glasses with a cloth. Use 'em wet. If you use a dry glass, the customer will see bubbles settling on the sides. If he drinks it and it's a hot day—well, what happens maybe?"

Everybody flunked that one.

"He burps maybe," said Roffman patiently. "Right away he starts blaming the beer. Says it's got too much gas—says he saw the bubbles himself."

The professor then invited the taproom scholars up to draw a sample. Everybody quickly sidled up to a seidel. Each rinsed his seidel in a pail of water before drawing his beer. I forgot this part of the ceremony.

"Nice collar," said the professor genially, "but look at the bubbles. You used a dry glass."

I nosed into the glass. It was a warm day. Something happened.

Judge Declares Libel Cry Must Not Be Allowed to Stifle Truth

NOTES OF A NEWSPAPERMAN—A character named H. Richardson failed twice recently to send two of us to jail for "criminal libel." His first client (against me) turned out to be a Syrian sympathetic to the Arabs! . . .

His second attempt was for himself. . . . In Mid-Manhattan Court (where Richardson's case was thrown into the nearest Jewish court) Judge H. Bushel, delighted newspaper people everywhere with this poke on Richardson's nose: "The cry of libel, in order to stifle justifiable criticism and the publication of truth, has long been recognized as a reprehensible camouflage. In this democracy, where free speech is the cornerstone of our way of life, a court should not impose criminal penalties upon those who serve the public interest in exposing its enemies, but rather good citizens should be commended and encouraged for their vital interest in the public weal."

Before dismissing the case, the Judge congratulated the Anti-Nazi League chief, Dr. H. Atkinson, for exposing "these rascals."

Shake, doc. Stick out your tongue and say: "Aaaaahhh!"

Lana Turner had to get written permission from her ex-husband, Steve Crane, to take their daughter, Cheryl, out of the U. S. . . . Joen Arliss, whose divorce becomes final August 13, and Richard Newton are together. . . . The Tom Berragans (the dances in "Allegro") are three. . . . Werner Wins Place on MIT Dean's List

Fred Eugene Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Werner, 184 Euclid avenue, has been placed on the dean's list at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was announced today by Glenn G. Rohleder, principal at Senior High.

Werner, who graduated from Mansfield Senior high with the class of 1945, is completing his second year at MIT. In his senior year here, he was second in a class of 323, a member of the National Honor Society and a runner-up for University club honors.

In order to be placed on the dean's list, a student must carry more than the normal study load, hold first honors and have a rating of not less than 4.5.

City's Tax Rate Below Average

Many Ohio Towns Pay More Than Mansfield

Mansfield's tax rate of 20 mills is slightly below the average in Ohio cities.

Figures compiled by the state department of taxation show rates in cities range from 13.8 mills at Tiffin to 35 mills in Cuyahoga Falls. Most of the cities have rates in excess of 20 mills.

In Columbus, State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander pointed out that a low tax rate did not necessarily mean taxpayers were paying less property taxes than those in a community with a higher rate.

Each county fixes its own property valuations for tax purposes. A city might have low tax rate but high property valuations.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said a low rate "doesn't mean much."

He said in Richland county the idea was to equalize valuations so that similar properties will have the same valuation for tax purposes.

Another consideration Wolfe said, was the fact that the increase in the mill rate was brought about by the school building program and school operating levies.

SCHOOLS BOOST RATE

The rate was boosted by 2½ mills because of the Mansfield school district program, voted two years ago.

Of the 20 mills collected, 13.5 mills go for school purposes. Of the balance, 2.5 mills go to the county; .13 to the townships; and 3.87 mills to the city, Wolfe said.

A reappraisal of properties is under way in Richland county and throughout Ohio, to be completed in 1949.

Revaluation of the properties has been completed in the townships. Revaluation of new buildings in Mansfield is in process.

Wolfe said the practice is to value buildings according to 1941 values, before the war-inflated prices.

Tax rates of other cities, including the 10-mill limitation follow: Akron, 24.39; Alliance (each township) 22; Athens, 16; Canton (each township) 20.4; Cincinnati, 24.36; Cleveland, 31; Columbus, 18.8; Coshocton, 16.2; Dayton, 24.8; Lima, 22.9; Mansfield, 20; Massillon (each township) 17.6; Middletown, 17.26; Springfield, 23; Toledo, 21; Youngstown, 20.6; and Zanesville, 17.3.

5,000 Watch Parade Honoring War Dead

By NITA BRANSON

One of the largest crowds ever to view a Memorial Day parade here lined Mansfield streets from the Legion home to the gates of the Mansfield cemetery yesterday afternoon to watch the veterans and patriotic organizations march in tribute to the war dead. Police estimated the crowd at more than 5,000 persons.

Skies that had been cloudy all morning suddenly became bright as the marchers left the American Legion home shortly after 1:30 p. m. and stepped off down Park avenue west to Central park, around the park and up South Diamond street to the cemetery.

Although the parade was not as large as in some years, it lacked nothing in colorful uniforms and snappy music as the city's three high school bands—Senior, Simpson and Johnny Appleseed—followed their fast-stepping majorettes down the street and set the tempo for Mansfield's patriotic organizations.

The crowd at the cemetery was also larger than usual. Mrs. Della Cochran, publicity director for the memorial observance, said that all the 600 programs provided were given out and more could have been used.

URGES LASTING PEACE

Patriotic Mansfielders stood on the hillside in front of the amphitheater or sat on markers to hear Major Robert Hall, commander 321st Bombardment group, Army Air Corps Reserves, declare:

"We have a proud heritage to guard. It is our duty to establish a peace born of Christianity and good will among men.

"We can achieve that peace through love on one hand and firmness on the other. The hour also is right that we should be strong. Let us guard well and hold high the torch of liberty.

"Let us never forget," Major Hall emphasized, "the principles for which these men whom we honor today, fought and gave their lives. We have been given a trust to insure that America keep her government of the people, by the people and for the people and that it shall not perish from the earth."

During the program at the cemetery, Harvey Burghard, Ohio Department Guard, VFW, read the names of the three Spanish-American veterans, 23 World War I veterans and 15 from World War II who have died since Memorial Day, 1947. Names of the seven members of the women's organizations who have died during the past year, were read by Mrs. Cochran.

Memorial Day observance began yesterday at 11 a. m. when the American Legion auxiliary sponsored services at the Doughboy monument in Central park. A wreath was placed on the statue by Mrs. James Brownson, president of the auxiliary, and Rabbi Moshe Goldblum, chaplain in World War II, read the service.

Following the parade yesterday afternoon, members of the Legion and auxiliary gathered at the home for an informal finale to the day's observance.

Werner Wins Place on MIT Dean's List

Fred Eugene Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Werner, 184 Euclid avenue, has been placed on the dean's list at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was announced today by Glenn G. Rohleder, principal at Senior High.

Werner, who graduated from Mansfield Senior high with the class of 1945, is completing his second year at MIT. In his senior year here, he was second in a class of 323, a member of the National Honor Society and a runner-up for University club honors.

In order to be placed on the dean's list, a student must carry more than the normal study load, hold first honors and have a rating of not less than 4.5.

MARCH IN MEMORY—Five thousand watched yesterday as Mansfield patriotic and musical organizations marched in memory of the city's war dead. Above the Johnny Appleseed band and Boy Scouts bring up the rear of the parade, as it turned from Park avenue west into the Central park area.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

His friends and family were wishing Weyman F. Norton many happy returns of the day while he spends his birthday, as any other day, at work. He has been in the shoe repair business for more than 20 years as the proprietor of Norton's Shoe Repair. He is the father of two daughters who are living in New York. Actually his birthday was celebrated prematurely, with a quiet dinner with Mrs. Norton at the Sky Club Saturday evening. They reside at 411 Overlook road, where Norton will be found every spring or summer evening working for hours in his garden. When the recent war brought on the necessity for a Victory Garden, the Nortons converted an unused tennis court into a vegetable garden which has been a good food producer and a lot of fun every year since. Norton is an active member of the Masonic and Elks lodges. He is a member of the First Methodist church.

The News-Journal also extends congratulations to Joy A. Herbert, sales and division manager of the Ohio Public Service company, and Arthur H. Sayles, 466 West Fourth street, celebrating their birthday anniversaries today.

Five Pilots Found Dead

STUART, Fla. (P)—Five naval reserve pilots were found dead Sunday near three crashed training planes on the edge of the swampy Everglades.

Naval authorities said apparently the three single-engine planes crashed during a violent thunderstorm late Saturday. They were part of a 12-plane formation on route from Birmingham, Ala., to Miami.

Six of the 12 planes reached Miami last night, reporting bad weather. Two landed safely at the old army air base near Boca Raton and a third landed at Naples on the west coast. The dead were not identified immediately.

Joe Thomas joined the "Cards" at 65!

Your last years can be your best years . . . but it takes good planning, as this true-to-life story shows

by DR. LLOYD E. DEWEY
Professor of Finance
New York University

DR. LLOYD E. DEWEY

VERY FEW people are ever able to quit work in time to enjoy life, and yet all of us dream of doing it.

Today the average child at birth can expect to live eighteen years longer than his grandfather lived. Are these years to be some of the best of your life, as they are for my friend Joe Thomas, or will you miss your chance to have your dream come true?

Joe used to be in the machine shop at Stewart & Brown. (I am changing real names, of course.) A great sports fan, Joe's ambition was to retire and see every home game of the St. Louis Cardinals, his favorite team . . .

Go to the ball park any day now, and you'll see Joe cheering in the stands!

Joe will tell anyone he owes it all to a man he met by chance in his early thirties, a life insurance agent named Ed Barrow, who became one of the best friends he ever had. It was Barrow who sold him the idea of planning for the future—a hard job when most of us are interested only in the present.

Today, Joe hasn't a worry in the world!

He set up a retirement income program for Joe that required no more money than he had been intending to save (and was never quite saving), but made his saving systematic!

Also, he pointed out to Joe that some of the family life insurance protection he carried could safely be rearranged when he was 65 years old, to provide additional income that he and his wife could enjoy together.

Agent can be a real help

Your life insurance agent can be a real help with your plans for retirement. If you have social security benefits and perhaps a company pension to look forward to, your agent can fit both into a program that will really give you what you need.

If you are planning to start taking it easy, get used to it gradually. The next problem to the financial one is that of empty time. An interesting hobby can add years to your life. My friend Joe Thomas looks like he has many a ball game ahead of him!

Make retirement plans early!

Nearly half the people over 40 answering a recent survey did not expect to be able to retire in reasonable comfort at 65! Let your life insurance agent explain why it's important to make retirement plans early. You can start with a modest amount.

How to PLAN for Family Happiness

• Planning for retirement is only part of sound money planning. You'll be more likely to have enough money on hand when you need it, if you'll follow these few simple rules:

FOR TODAY . . . The first thing, for most families, is to take care of the larger fixed items such as rent, taxes, insurance, mortgage and installment payments, etc.

So start by adding up all your fixed items for the year, divide by 52, and set aside that amount weekly.

Also, every family should have a "rainy day" fund equal to at least four weeks' income. Set aside a little every week until you have that much. Then, you'll know how much you can spend for food, clothing, heat, light, amusements, and so forth.

FOR TOMORROW . . . We live in a changing world. Family needs and circumstances change . . . living costs . . . taxes. If you have not had your life insurance program reviewed lately, the chances are 2 to 1 that it should be brought up to date.

There are so many ways in which you can use your life insurance, that you should have the life insurance you now own checked to see if it is suited to your needs. This is a service that comes with your life insurance.

The person best equipped to help you with this is the well-trained life insurance agent. Get in touch with your agent, or write your life insurance company. INSTITUTE OF LIFE INSURANCE, 60 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Brazilians Contemplate 5-Year Plan

Cost Would Run Near Billion Mark

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's Congress is studying a five-year development plan aimed at building a modern nation in which nearly a billion dollars would be spent.

The program, dubbed the SALTE plan (from the initials of the Portuguese words for health, food, transport and power), was authorized by a large group of congressmen from all political parties. It is intended to raise from backwardness a nation of 50,000,000 inhabitants, the largest country of Latin America both in area and population.

"We are a half-century behind progress and civilization," the committee said in its introductory report. "If we wish to give a better future to our coming generations, this plan will save us."

The plan was chiefly inspired by the opposition which now supports the coalition government of President Eurico Gaspar Dutra. In a recent message to congress President Dutra urged approval of the plan.

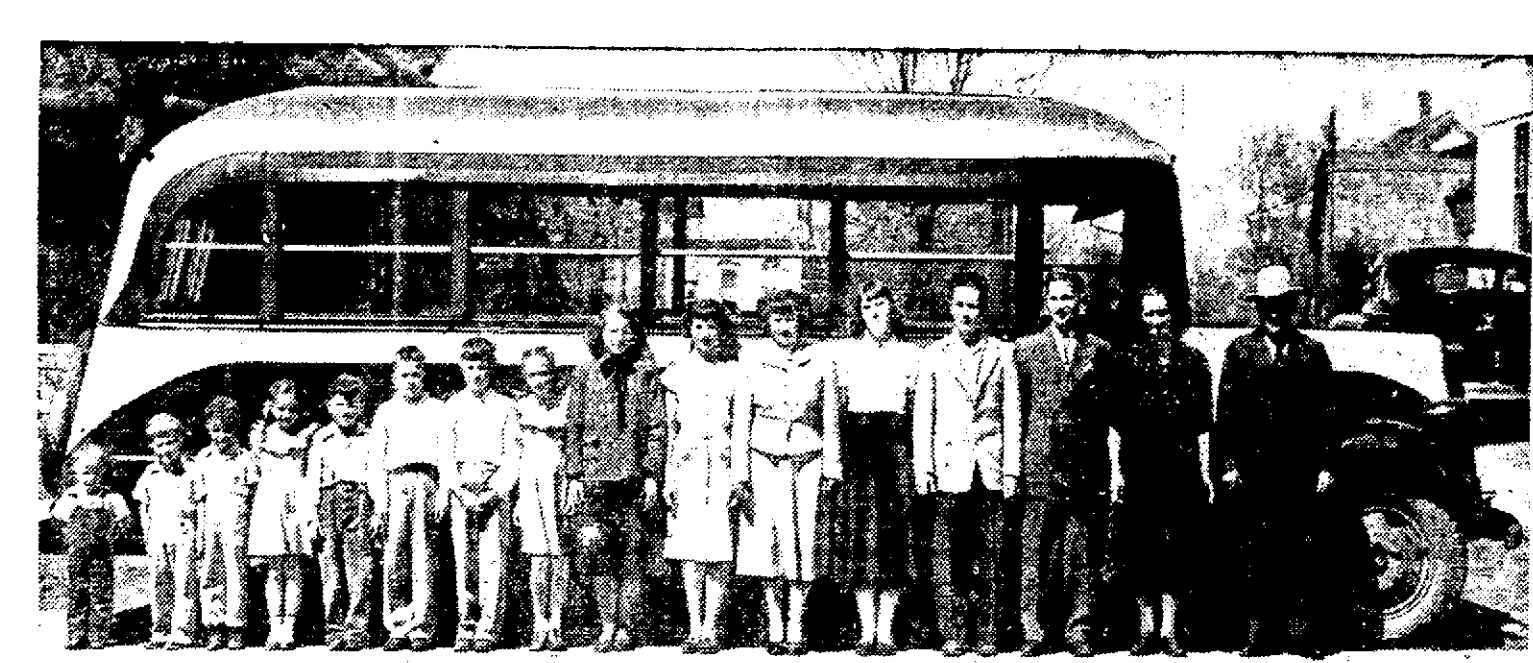

Total expenditures under the plan now are estimated at $870,000,000, of which $113,000,000 would be spent on the health project; $185,000,000 on the food project; $401,500,000 on transportation and $152,500,000 on power development.

One of the chief aims of the health project is to check the rise of infant mortality which has become the ghost of the Brazilian people. In Fortaleza, a city of 200,000, statistics show that 373 babies died of each 1,000 born in 1946.

The health project also is aimed at improving the average level of adult health. Figures were quoted to show that the probability of people over 30 dying is six or seven times higher in some Brazilian towns than in countries with modern sanitation. Other goals are to rehabilitate 8,000,000 sufferers from malaria and to reduce syphilis and tuberculosis, two great enemies of the Brazilian people.

ASSISTANCE NEEDED

The report said that 4,600,000 people in 312 municipalities are deprived of medical assistance. It

It's Nearly All Over But the Shouting Congress Rolling Into Windup Stages

WASHINGTON (UP) — The 80th Congress rolled into its windup stages today with a flock of issues, from oil to atomics — still unsettled and a bitter civil rights clash apparently inevitable.

TARGETS JUNE 19

With the June 19 target date for adjournment just three weeks off, the speed-up was on. The Senate met an hour earlier than usual today, night sessions were promised and Republicans huddled to settle on a "must bill" program.

The big question was the threatened pitched battle on civil rights and the military draft.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, indicated he was toying with the idea of backing at least one civil rights plank as a draft bill rider.

Such a move would bring an immediate filibuster from Southern members and a GOP counterthrust to limit debate.

Nevertheless, Taft indicated to reporters that such a step might be attempted in preference to trying to pass the long-debated anti-lynch or anti-poll tax bills as separate legislation.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), insisted he would press his amendment to enable draftees to request service in army units made up only of men of their own race.

TAFT PLANS MEETING

Taft planned to meet with House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. later today in an effort to draft a definite legislative schedule for the remaining three weeks.

The Ohio Senator said the Senate might shelve until next year the issue of David E. Lilienthal's re-appointment as chairman of the Atomic Energy commission. This would mean the Senate would not vote on Lilienthal's reappointment.

Department Was Warned About Radio

Voice of America
Program Dangerous

By WALTER LIPPMANN
ANY ONE with experience in journalism could have told the state department, and several of us did, that it would get into trouble if it took responsibility for radio programs. That is because it is a technical impossibility for the department to direct or supervise broadcasts to all parts of the world in dozens of languages or all kinds of subjects.

For how is it conceivable that officials of the department can read all the scripts before they are broadcast?

How can they know what has happened to the scripts when they have been translated into foreign languages? How can they know what they sounded like when the broadcasters had supplied their own personal inflections and emphasis?

In the case of the scandalous, and perhaps malicious, broadcasts to Latin America, the Voice of America seems to have been Mr. Rene Borgia of Venezuela, and a Mr. Alberto Gandero, who is now in Cuba. Obviously their broadcasts were not "supervised" successfully.

But where are we going to find the all-seeing eye and the all-hearing ear which will supervise hour by hour the Voice of America? It says to the world in Spanish, Portuguese, French, German, Italian, Czech, Hungarian, Polish, Rumanian, Greek, Finnish, Swedish, Norwegian, Arabic, Chinese—or even in English?

ALLEN BLAMELESS

Mr. George V. Allen, the assistant secretary of state who now chaperones the Voice of America, had nothing whatever to do with the scripts which have aroused Congress and the public. Mr. Allen was our ambassador in Iran when they were broadcast.

But from now on he will be responsible, and so he really ought to consider whether he could, as he says in his letter to Senator Smith of New Jersey, "supervise the programs" if he had "the authority and the machinery for supervision."

What authority and what machinery would he like to have in order to discharge successfully the responsibility of supervision? It will take some machinery to enable Mr. Allen to supervise Mr. Richardson of N.B.C. who was supposed to supervise Mr. Gandero who was supposed to supervise Mr. Borgia.

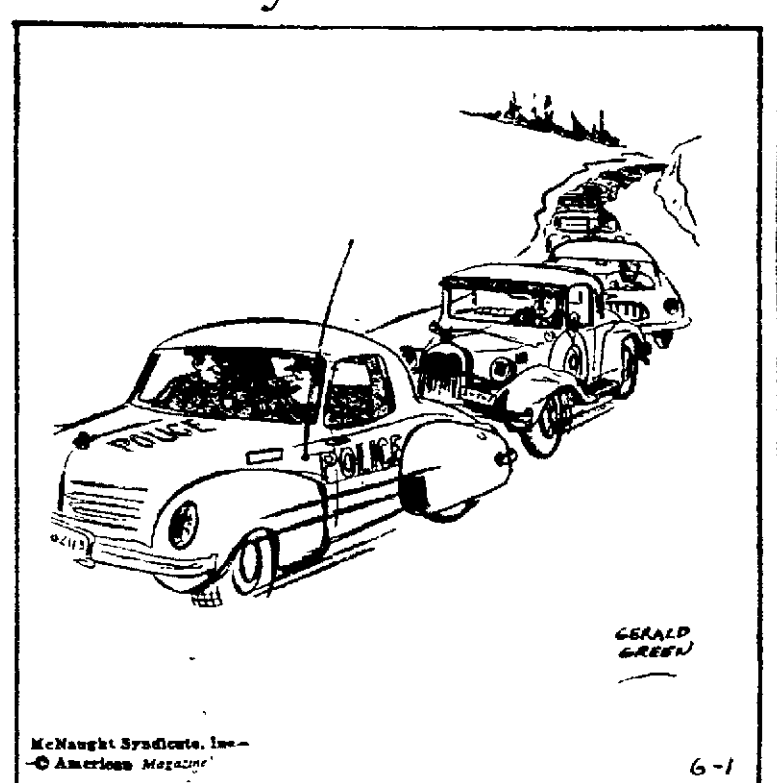

My own view is that the Voice of America to the outer world should be the voice of the President of the United States and of the secretary of state, and that to let any one else call himself the Voice of America is certain to diminish, not to enhance, the prestige and influence of the United States.

I think it absurd that the Voice of America, an official organ of the department of state, should be heard around the world singing songs, cracking jokes, entertaining the kiddies. It is arguable that a summary of the news from the press associations should be broadcast, and that the government could facilitate such broadcasts. But I do not believe that this country can conduct an official propaganda of ideology, doctrine and opinion. For this country, being truly a free country, does not have any such thing as an official ideology, an official doctrine and an official set of opinions.

CARE NECESSARY

But even if it be granted that

This Funny World . . .

"Let's see how slow we can go before they get up enough nerve to pass us."

Cautions GP's, Builders On Loan 'Side Payments'

Veterans, builders and leaders were cautioned today against the consequences of making or accepting "side payments" in the sale of home properties to veterans with the aid of G. I. loans, the Mansfield Veterans Administration announced today.

"Side payments," usually made for the purpose of evading the prohibition against sales to veterans in excess of appraised reasonable value are a direct violation of the law. This will subject offenders to possible federal prosecution, VA spokesmen said.

Many cases have been reported in which veterans have been induced to pay the builder or seller an amount over and above the sale price shown on the loan submitted to the Veterans Administration.

Veterans who knowingly conspire to evade the law by making such side payments risk loss of their rights under all veterans' laws, the VA warned.

Any lender who knows of such side payments, even though the government needs to conduct such a propaganda, then it ought not be the department of state which does it. The department should always speak for itself. No one, not Mr. Borgia and Mr. Gandero, should be allowed to speak for it, not even if Mr. Borgia and Mr. Gandero are being "supervised."

If the department speaks for itself, it will know what it is saying. It does not know, in the nature of things it can never know, what the Voice of America is saying.

The only scripts that the department ought to have anything to do with are speeches, statements, press interviews dealing with foreign affairs that come directly from the White House and the department through authorized officials.

To supervise effectively even those scripts is a big enough job for the department.

And if it confined itself to doing that job as well as it can, it would not be in endless trouble because it has bitten off more than it can chew.

The Origin of 'Dead Line'

Precedent Found for War Crime Trials

(Editor's Note: The following story is reprinted from yesterday's edition in which the type was garbled as the result of a printer's error.)

Mansfield historian Ernest J. Wesson has uncovered a legal precedent for the war crimes trials at Nuernberg and Tokyo, according to the May 24 issue of the Information Bulletin of the Library of Congress.

An article by David C. Mearns, entitled "From Bad to Wirz," reports Wesson's gift to the Congressional library of manuscripts that show measures taken by the defense in the Post-Civil War trial of Henry Wirz, former commandant of the notorious Andersonville Confederate prison.

The manuscripts were found by Wesson among the papers of James William Denver, who lived from 1817 to 1892 and for whom the capital city of Colorado was named.

Denver was a native of Virginia, captain in the war with Mexico, a representative in Congress from California, Commissioner of Indian Affairs and Governor of Kansas Territory. Until 1863 he held the rank of Brigadier General of Volunteers, and after Appomattox, for a time practiced law in Washington as a member of the firm of Hughes, Denver and Peck.

In 1865, they were retained to represent Henry Wirz, late a captain and assistant adjutant general in the Army of the Confederate States of America,

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Authoritative, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—draw fresh air out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

—Adv.

who was tried before a military commission for outrages as Commandant of Andersonville Prison.

According to the fourteen specifications "the said Henry Wirz" conducted himself in a manner which anteceded the other beasts of Belsen, Buchenwald, Nordhausen and Dachau.

Among the foul crimes for which Henry Wirz stood accused was this:

"He, the said Wirz, still wickedly pursuing his evil purpose, did establish and cause to be designated within the prison enclosure containing said prisoners, a 'dead line,' being a line around the inner face of the stockade, or wall, and about twenty feet distant from and within said stockade; and having so established said dead line, which was in many places an imaginary line, and in many other places marked by insecure and shifting strips of boards nailed upon the top of small and insecure stages or posts, he, the said Henry Wirz, instructed the prison guard stationed around the top of said stockade to fire upon and kill any of the prisoners aforesaid who might touch, fall upon, pass over or under or across the said 'dead line.'"

The compilers of A Dictionary of American English have traced the origin of dead line, with its modern connotation, to Andersonville.

When the trial re-opened on Aug. 24th, it was announced that Messrs. Hughes, Denver and Peck had withdrawn from the case. Other attorneys took over the defense. General Denver had not personally appeared before the Commission. The findings of the Commission were issued on Nov. 6, when Wirz was found guilty. Four days later he was hanged in the prison yard.

Sometimes there is an advantage in seeming to be "behind the times."

It was suggested to holiday motorists, "Don't leave your brains at home," which seems to be a good idea for year-round application.

Polish Ambassador Stanton Griffis reports: "The people of Europe are really beginning to work"—and think what could be accomplished if the idea spreads!

As Graduates Bid Farewell to MHS

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON has been delivered and all is in readiness for the commencement program tomorrow evening. It is quite natural, with Mansfield's growth, that this graduating class should be the largest in the city's history, and that planning for the future must include recognition of need for steadily expanding educational facilities for the children of this community.

This completion of high school work marks a crucial stage in the lives of the boys and girls—now young men and women—who have reached the end of one phase of what is called "education" and are ready to move into the next stage of experience, which may be either attendance at college or immediate entry into the preparatory training needed for some vocation to which the individual is attracted—with a broad field from which to choose.

While overcrowded colleges may tend to discourage some young people now being graduated from high school, it cannot be doubted that the more determined of them will find a way to gain the higher education required for the professions and some of the vocations where specialized knowledge is essential.

Much is being said nowadays about the "uncertainties" of the future, but present-day graduates should take into account that history confirms the conclusion that each generation through all the centuries has found the future "uncertain" and that the human traits contributing to success or failure have been much the same since the early days of discovery, exploration and development of what is now the United States of America.

Advice, well intentioned as it may be, will play a small part in determining events of the future years for each of the young persons now at the high school graduation crossroads, but intelligent observation of their elders, coupled with acquired understanding of the real attributes of successful living, may prove helpful in directing their course along lines which merit commendation under the general term of "good citizenship."

Vicious Dogs Again Running Loose

THIS MENTION of dogs does not refer to dogs in general—only to those whose owners permit them to become nuisances. . . . and even more specifically to the vicious ones that show a particular liking to snapping at letter carriers or other persons required to go upon the premises in making deliveries.

The point is that several mail carriers have been bitten by dogs within the past couple of weeks and that this is another case in which "something should be done about it." Of course, delivery of mail can be stopped at homes where a vicious dog has been permitted to run loose—and this has been done in some instances—but this procedure follows the unpleasant experience of a carrier having been bitten, rather than guarding against it.

Liking for dogs should obviously not extend to the point of tolerating the sort that jeopardize the safety of children and adults, and unless owners show inclination to keep such "pets" housed or securely tied, complaints to public authorities should bring quick action.

Lively Exhibition of Skill On Skates

NOVELTY in attractive entertainment—insofar as Mansfield is concerned—is being provided for several days by the excellent ice show being presented at the Coliseum, with tomorrow night scheduled for the final performance.

Many Mansfielders have gone to larger cities to see ice shows, but in quality of performance it may be doubted if better talent is available anywhere than that going into some of the acts being presented locally.

Young people, in particular, should be impressed by the requirement for intensive training and practice to attain such amazing skill on skates as is shown by individual and group performers.

The Coliseum is peculiarly adapted to a great variety of uses, and in the field of entertainment it may be hoped that patronage and appreciation will be such as to encourage a high class ice show as an annual event.

Court Prescribes Year's Abstinence

A THOUGHT-PROVOKING sidelight on the Phil Baker case, in which the popular Hollywood radio master of ceremonies was fined $200 for driving an auto while intoxicated, is that the court also ordered Baker to abstain from liquor for a year.

That, it may appear to some, will be a more severe part of the penalty than the payment of a fine—but, who knows, maybe by the end of a year Phil may be feeling so much better that he will continue as a total abstainer.

Old Paper Tells of An Early-Day Crime

EDITORS NOTE: From time to time there is discussion of the only legal execution ever performed in Mansfield—only thirty years ago yesterday—and a recital of circumstances of the crime to which Edward Webb was hanged will prove interesting to readers who desire information on all phases of local history. The following is from William A. Duff, local historian, Ashland, former Mansfield resident, who has collected many interesting facts of our history.

Nearly half a column in this newspaper of seventy years ago was devoted to a sketch of Webb, who said he was born on a plantation near Huntsville, Ala., being owned by a man named Penny, who, he said, was a good master until when the Union troops came to that section joined up with them. Later in Louisville, Ky., he was with the 11th Kentucky Cavalry, in which he served for 27 months, he said. After being discharged at Camp Chase, near Columbus, he came to Mansfield, where he worked at blacksmithing, gardening and farming.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Eisenhower Cannot Be Induced to Run

DESPERATE Democrats, notably bosses like Jacob M. Arvey of Chicago, are frantically looking toward Eisenhower as the man to save their party and the innumerable local jobs, privileges and perquisites that pertain to power. Likewise, the idealists with James Roosevelt in California are agonized to see the likelihood of Wallace's snatching away their doubtful majority in that state.

General Eisenhower can hardly be unaware of the embarrassing position that this creates for him. No doubt, he privately expresses views of the draft-Eisenhower business in language that would endear him forever to every top sergeant who ever served in his great army.

It is not enough to say, as he did with dignity and precision, that he could not run for the Republicans. It is not enough for him to accept a job which sought him on the basis that Columbia needed a president, not a candidate. The draft-Eisenhower Democrats simply refuse to listen.

Nor does the logic of the case seem to settle the question. The logic is that a man would be foolish to reject a Republican nomination this year and then accept a nomination from a party that is desperate, divided and apparently headed for defeat.

General Eisenhower has gently or ungently set aside an elected president. Occasionally, however, the general has risen above the temptation.

In 1861, the long civil war in Mexico had reached its end. Gonzalez Ortega, the military commander of the Constitutionists, captured the capital. Ortega was the hero of the hour. The quiet, unromantic Benito Juarez, the legitimate president, was in Vera Cruz. The slightest disposition to capitalize on popularity would have deposed Juarez and elevated Ortega.

But Ortega was a man of singular honor and foresight. He induced Juarez to stop at the outskirts of Mexico City while he prepared the way for a great entry for his chief. Juarez entered in triumph and Ortega lives in history for his refusal to take a short cut to power.

Eisenhower must know this. And those who are trying to draft him are not serving the general's true fame. They are serving their own selfishness.

Has Happened Before. HISTORY is full of precedents, good and bad, of military men who have pushed aside civil leaders. The conquering general is always more popular than the frock-coated civilians.

When it was arranged that Abraham Lincoln should attend Ford's theater on April 14, 1865, the original plan was to have General Grant accompany him. But such was Grant's popularity in

Washington Merry-Go-Round
Friendship Train to Russia Is Proposed

WASHINGTON -- Reports from Europe indicate that we are mulling the ball in the exchange of so-called "peace notes" with Russia. We wrote a note to the Russians saying that the door was open to diplomatic discussions. The Russians fired back saying that they would like to talk. Then we replied that we didn't want to talk after all.

There have been some explanations and counterexplanations since then, but the net impression in Europe has been bad. The Moscow radio makes us out as warmongers.

While the state department may be right that diplomatic talks with Russia are of doubtful value, there can be no doubt about the value of getting to know the Russian people and letting them know that we Americans are not warmongers.

If the Russian people and the American people could pierce part of the iron curtain and ever get on speaking terms, there would be as little chance of war between us as between the U.S.A. and Canada. For governments don't declare war when their people are overwhelmingly opposed to war.

Believing, therefore, that the only sure way of preventing war with Russia is a people-to-people relationship, I have written a letter to Joseph Stalin. It may not accomplish anything. It may not even get a reply. But you never accomplish anything in this world without trying, so here is the letter:

Letter to Stalin. "Washington, D. C. "My Dear Premier Stalin: "As you may have heard, a large number of Americans, acting quite spontaneously, last year organized a train of friendship to carry food and good-will to the people of Europe at the Christmas season. "There was nothing governmental about this Friendship Train. We, the American people, were merely conscious of the fact that Europe was suffering and we wanted to do our part—and do it directly from people to people. So a Friendship Train started rolling from California to New York with the hope of collecting perhaps 100 carloads of food. In the end, 700 boxcars of food were collected by all sorts of people, farmers, housewives, war veterans, school children, labor union members and businessmen—all of it collected in the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount.

"I recall, Premier Stalin, that at one time you studied for the priesthood, and doubtless remembered from those days the message of the Sermon on the Mount and the Brotherhood of Man. The Friendship Train was conceived in that spirit.

"We carried our food not only to an old ally, France, but to our former enemies—Italy, Germany and Austria. We would have liked also to have visited Eastern Europe and your country—had Americans been permitted to go there. "We, the American people, know the tremendous sacrifices of the heroic Russian people. We know the devastation suffered by your towns and villages. And we, having been spared Hitler's bombings and blitzkriegs, feel a certain responsibility to alleviate suffering and hunger wherever it exists.

"Therefore, this letter is written to you, Premier Stalin, as we commemorate a late America's war dead, who more than anything else would like to know that they had not died in vain, and that their sacrifice had finally ushered in an era of peace. It is written to you at a time when tension between our two governments is great, at a time when your newspapers and ours are speaking of a war which neither of our peoples want."

Lift the Iron Curtain. "ONE REASON for this tension is suspicion on the part of the peoples of both countries, suspicion generated by the fact that they do not know what is going on inside the other's country. The so-called iron curtain has given Americans the impression that Russia hates and fears the United States. It has given Americans the impression that something mysterious is being developed inside your country which may lay waste our cities and farms.

"So I would like to suggest to you, Premier Stalin, that you lift a corner of the iron curtain as the first step toward improving diplomatic relations between us—which you have requested in your recent notes.

I propose that we, the American people, again organize a Friendship Train, this time from the people of the United States to the children of Russia.

For children should not be made to suffer the mistakes of their fathers. We will take this Friendship Train full of food to the Soviet Union on a nonpolitical basis so as to prove to you and your people that the American people want friendship, not fear; that we are very weary of war.

"Our Friendship Train through Russia will not engage in politics. We will ask no special privileges, no political priorities. We only ask that we have the opportunity to deliver our gifts to a person as guests of your people—to meet them face to face and tell them that these gifts are from the heart of the American people.

"I can assure you that your acceptance of this friendship gesture would be carried out in all sincerity by us and might be a milestone in avoiding war which I am sure none of us wants, but toward which we seem to be drifting.

"Very sincerely yours. "DREW PEARSON"

That's the letter I am sending Stalin. I don't know that he will act on it, but if he doesn't, then we will know exactly where we stand with Russia. We will know—and can tell Europe—that the shoe is on the other foot and that it is Russia, having rebuffed this act of friendship, which is the real warmonger.

I also know that if Stalin should act favorably and if a new American Friendship Train were ever allowed to visit Russia, a part of the Russian people would realize that the American people are not warmongers, but genuine believers in people-to-people friendship. And between people who understand each other, it is not easy to make war.

Washington Calling

Zigzag Course Hazardous

By MARQUIS CHILDS

A NEW British ambassador is taking over in the big red brick mansion that was designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens to house his Britannic majesty's envoy to this country. Forty-three years old, Sir Oliver Franks, who has never held a prior diplomatic or political post, faces at the moment of his arrival a grave crisis in the relationship between the two countries.

In the hope that it may be averted or somehow miraculously solved, there is a tendency on both sides of the Atlantic to say little about it. But this head-in-the-sand attitude cannot hide the seriousness of what is happening and, even more important, what can happen.

The cause is, of course, Palestine. There, in that tragic trouble center, the fearful consequences of both British and U. S. mistakes and failures are all too apparent.

The basic error is that the two countries have pursued separate and often competing policies, just as though the peace and stability of the world did not depend on a decent, practical working relationship between the two powers.

The British, in the Middle East, have gone right on playing the old-fashioned game of power politics. They have behaved as though nothing had happened since 1914. The game of pitting sheik against pasha, and pasha against sheik, could therefore be pursued in the merry old way.

The U. S. has followed first one line and then another line, the end result being: kind of irresponsible zigzag, with first one side irritated and angry and then the other side thrown into a frenzy.

Too many looking on from outside our borders, U. S. policy has seemed to be directed frequently by the expedience of domestic politics and at other times by so-called realists urging the need for oil reserves.

Quick Agreement Needed. THERE have been some who have foreseen the disaster to which all this could lead. One was Lord Inverchapel, the retiring British ambassador who is returning to his Scottish estates after more than 40 years spent in the capitals of the world.

A long-time friend of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the extraordinary genius who is now president of Israel, Inverchapel clearly foresaw where British policy was leading. He could, however, do little to alter that policy beyond the warnings that were contained in his urgent dispatches to the foreign office in London.

Best Way To Feed Babies

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THERE is no doubt in the world that "the breastfed baby is the best-fed baby." This is a proved fact and it has also been definitely shown that nine out of every ten women who try to nurse their babies will have enough milk for them by the fifth day after birth.

Why, if it then that in so many localities today less than one-third of our babies are breast-fed? The plain truth is that too many modern mothers simply don't want to nurse their infants. And if the breasts are not emptied regularly and completely, the milk supply soon fails.

Mistaken Idea. Some mothers even have the utterly mistaken idea that the bottle-fed baby will gain faster and get along better than the breast-fed infant. Others frankly object because they believe breast feeding will cause them to gain weight or change the shape of the breast.

Neither of these things is true and, if they were, they would still not justify a mother in refusing to nurse her baby. The things which do are few in number and of infrequent occurrence. Chiefly, they are an acute illness, inflammation of the breast, cracked nipples, or pregnancy.

Another reason can be found in the conflicting blood types which sometimes exist in mother and babe. Thus it is inadvisable for a mother who is Rh negative to nurse her positive Rh positive baby. The Rh refers to a certain factor in the blood which may be present in the infant and not in the mother.

Now and then, in rare cases, the baby may actually be sensitive or allergic to the mother's milk.

Many Advantages. Where it is possible at all, breast feeding has many advantages.

Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. Acts 20:35.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Friday, June 1, 1928. City council decided not to appeal Judge Galbraith's decision on disputed south line of site for new Richland Savings Bank building, corner Main street and Park avenue west.

YMCA directors met with architects and announced intention of starting construction of new building early in fall.

Availing on South Main street Kroger store was destroyed by fire started by carelessly thrown cigarette stub.

Dr. John S. Hattery was called to Celina by the death of his father.

Eighty-sixth birthday anniversary of John D. Constance sr., Probate Judge C. L. McClellan resumed duties after two months recuperation from operation.

Report showed collection of $15,029.17 during first five months of operation of new municipal court.

Permit was issued for construction of Farmers Bank building, corner Park avenue west and Walnut street, at estimated cost of $350,000.

Class of 117 was graduated from Mansfield high school—63 girls and 54 boys.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On June 1, 1939, the United States House of Representatives defeated the Townsend old-age pension bill by a vote of 302 to 97.

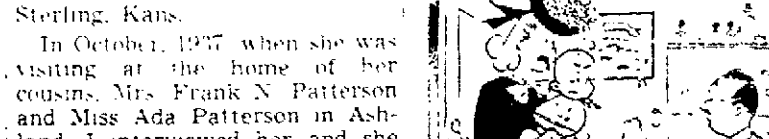

ODD FACT

According to a Rutgers University psychologist, some drivers on long motor trips become hypnotized by the monotony of traffic lights changing in regular cadence, the white strip separating the lanes, and the passing scenery.

Of the Rev. and Mrs. James Patterson Finney, home missionaries in Kansas who were visiting at the Lexington road, that convicted Webb of the slaying, Miss Finney later became a missionary in Lower Egypt and in the heart of the delta of the Nile, continuing in that work for 33 years before she retired and is now living at Sterling, Kans.

In October, 1937 when she was visiting at the home of her cousins, Mrs. Frank N. Patterson and Miss Ada Patterson in Ashland, I interviewed her and she told me the particulars of the terrible night in December, 1877 when Webb killed her grandfather, seriously wounded her Grandmother Finney, also attacked her parents, who, however, were not so seriously hurt. She told me that after the murder, Webb, with lighted lamp came to her bed but thought she was sound asleep, so did not harm her. But she was not asleep and recognized the slayer of her grandfather and at the trial testified against Webb.

Life's Like That

You prescribed this formula for him. Show me how to get him to eat it.

But those baby pictures will cause some confusion in television homes. . . . someone is sure to say, "That isn't Dewey. . . . no mustache"

And I don't know that baby pictures will help any candidate. It's hard to visualize a superman starting out in a yard of cloth and a safety pin.

But it will be interesting to hear the audience comments change, as the program moves along, from "he certainly was cute" to "he certainly thinks he's cute."

MARY A. MILLER BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. BECHTLER

Mansfield Man Takes Pittsburgh Girl As Bride In Informal Ceremony on May 22.

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the marriage of Miss Mary Ann Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa., to William Bechtler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bechtler, 660 Manchester road. Nuptial vows were exchanged on May 22 at the home of the bride, 95 Courtland street.

For her wedding Miss Miller chose a pink suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. Bechtler's best man was Mr. Estu, brother-in-law of the bride.

The couple plans to live in Mansfield after Mr. Bechtler finishes schooling in August.

Garden Study Club Takes Hike At Park

Members of the Garden Study Club met Friday at 1 o'clock at South Park for a hike through the garden paths. Later they assembled at the home of Mrs. W. O. Leedy, Woodward avenue, for a luncheon, which was served attractively at small tables.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. R. R. Martin. Mrs. John Cookman was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Grau Christman of Greenfield was a guest in attendance.

The program was opened by Mrs. Leedy who presented Mrs. Martin. Her topic was "Out of the Ordinary". She gave the history of several popular roses and told of the value of seedlings.

Mrs. Leedy then conducted a "Garden Quiz" with Mrs. R. K. Clark as the winner of the prize. The next meeting will be held June 11 with Mrs. R. R. Martin, Vennum avenue as hostess.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisite prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women or more than 70 years have used it is in application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable, thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin, for the third back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Voice of Broadway

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

CALL me a traitor to my sex if you will, but I couldn't suppress an impulse to smile at the recent intelligence that an organization described as a distaff version of the Lambs club and the Friars has been formed on Broadway by a group of energetic ladies.

Hmm, I said to myself. This could develop into something interesting. Something like a holocaust. It seems the girls have been rounded up by Lynne Gilmore, who is considered eligible to membership in a theatrical lodge by virtue of her dancing days, and already wives of such entertainers as Buddy Lester, Harvey Stone, Benny Davis, Henry Slate and Lenny Kent have been elected to various high offices. The very thought of it brings out the imp in my imagination.

I can't help but think of the recent testimonial dinners given by the West Coast branch of the Lambs allegedly to honor Al Jolson, Jack Benny, George Jessel and Eddie Cantor. These were occasions of genuinely rugged ribbing. Speeches by their admiring colleagues, clever and widely quoted, were also caustic in the extreme, touching more than casually on such subjects as old age, past amours, personalities—but all the boys took the sarcasm in stride despite the rather broad inference in several instances that the speech-makers were kidding in earnest.

Now I do not think any of the girls will go for this type of thing, and it is my considered opinion that if they talk themselves into imitating the boys on this point the party will wind up in a shambles. Women have a sense of humor, but it does not run along those lines.

Let this new organization start throwing testimonial dinners and I will not be responsible for the consequences. Let a speechmaker toss bon mots about the honored guest's bad taste in clothes, former flames, present foibles, tendency to be a bad loser at gin and inclination to henpeck her husband, and it will be bedlam.

Let somebody tell her right age, and it will be milder.

I do hope Meyer Davis will give me the privilege of being first to see the answers to a recent set of questionnaires he sent out in blithesome anticipation for the coming political excitement. Meyer, who has never for a moment forgotten semper paratus, has requested each candidate to forward a list of his favorite songs.

Certainly the replies should be fascinating if not significant. Does Vandenberg like The Blue Danube? Can Stassen stand swing? Wanna bet that Taft lists something by Carrie Jacobs Bond?

Wonder if there's a B-Bop fan in the crowd?

Just as one man's meat is the well known other man's poison, it frequently happens that one lady's luck is another's misfortune.

It happened in "Algiers" when Hedy Lamarr stole all the notices from Sigrid Gurie. And more recently a motion picture focused fame's full blast on one foreign star while it put another importation (and one more logically a contender for top cinema celebrity, considering her past performances) into the never-never land of also rans.

That was "The Paradine Case." It made Valli a national name and proved a great disappointment to the excellent Ann Todd, who had already won an impressive following on these shores by virtue of the English film, "The Seventh Veil."

But probably the most alarming case on record of a secondary player stealing from a star occurred during the shooting of "Green Dolphin Street." Linda Christian, a mere bit player, met Tyrone Power on the lot, and promptly stole him from the film's star, Lana Turner.

The biggest unimportant problem confronting glamour girls this season is to bob or not to bob, a dilemma posed by the current vogue in hairdos.

One of movieland's original long-haired Circes came by her brief bob strictly through accident and thereby saved herself a nice case of schizophrenia. Her latest permanent happened to turn out to be the kinky type, and the cameramen had fits when they saw it—so her hairdresser had to snip and snip and clip and clip until all the fuzzy ends were on the dressing room floor.

The story has a happy ending, though, because everybody thinks Dorothy Lamour's new look coiffure is simply divine.

The iris, found in most parts of the world, became the symbol of the French royal house in the middle ages.

DELRIK E-Z COLOR PAK MARGARINE

We are happy to tell you that your stores again have supplies of Delrich E-Z Color Pak Margarine. Many thanks for your patience during this shortage caused by conditions beyond our control.

We are working day and night to meet the tremendous demands of thousands of homemakers who have switched to Delrich and love its delicious, rich flavor and sweet freshness.

No homemaker wants to go back to the old mixing bowl mess of ordinary margarines. Like magic, Delrich turns golden inside the bag . . . in two minutes or less. This amazing, new way to color is an ORIGINAL Delrich discovery. And you don't need a mold. Yet, it's easy to cut neat quarters or patties for the table.

Just see how EASY it is to color Delrich! See how much better and fresher Delrich tastes because its delicate flavor is SEALED IN! No wonder Delrich is a new American favorite! Look for it at your store today!

Horoscope

For Wednesday, June 2.

WHILE regulation and normal procedures and techniques may have some show of progress and mending broken fences suddenly torn by disaster gales, yet an entire and enduring comeback may not be counted upon. Certain influential elements may be impressed, placated, or won over to some constructive action, yet there are signs of carelessness, impulsive judgments and these sustained or urged by treachery, schemes or other illicit or pernicious entanglements. Keep alert to all subtle or intriguing con-facts, especially social or affectional.

If It Is Your Birthday.
Those whose birthday it is may be able to win the friendly support of certain influential interests, whose substantial aid is vital to restoration and reconstructed effort. Yet even this may have crafty or dubious undercurrents, in which it may be judicious to be keenly alive to sordid complications, where suspicion and subtlety are menacing. Such might have an element of the social, romantic or domestic, likewise keyed to the treacherous and underhand. Sidestep any form of alluring commitments, if loss and regret are to be avoided.

Hunt for Job Benefit Key

Individuals who file claims for unemployment benefits are not eligible if they do not actively seek work or if they withdraw from the labor market, the bureau of unemployment compensation's board of review ruled today.

The board, investigating claims found that the claimants in some cases were neither available for work nor able to obtain work in their usual trade or occupation.

The Ohio law specifically states that benefit claimants fulfill both of these conditions to be eligible for compensation.

Herbert Will Visit Schools

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert is going to find out whether village and country schools in four southeastern Ohio counties are unsafe.

He planned to start an automobile tour of Jackson, Scioto, Lawrence and Gallia counties Wednesday to check on reports that many school buildings in the state were in bad shape, with conditions ranging from "deplorable" to "miserable" to "unsafe."

Governor Herbert said he was
